

ITALY'S WAR MOVE UP TO PARLIAMENT

CABINET WILL REPORT

Ministers in Lengthy Session Discuss Recommendations Which Will Be Made to Legislature.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rome, May 17, via Paris, May 18.—The Italian parliament will be asked Tuesday to vote on the only bill remaining a single clause conferring powers on the government, according to the Honorable d'Annunzio, a plan action regarding war is not expected until after that time, which is considered unlikely in view of the speeches made in the Hungarian diet.

Lengthy Cabinet Session.
The cabinet council today was one of the longest on record. At its close a brief communication was issued stating that the ministry discussed the statement to the legislature before parliament as to what action was taken. King Victor Emmanuel spent the evening in granting audiences to government officials and in considering military and political questions. There were further demonstrations of rejoicing throughout Italy at the solution of the ministerial crisis. In the capital, a great crowd swarmed the Capitoline hill to listen to the addresses of Gabriele d'Annunzio, who was carried on the shoulders of the people. The enthusiasm was increased by the address of the Honorable Colonna, mayor of Rome, in which he emphasized the necessity for Italy to participate in the war.

Claims "Die is Oast."
In an article summarizing the situation the Tribune has said the die is cast, the Rubicon is crossed and the Triple Alliance has been denounced. Demonstrations at Trieste confirm previous reports that a revolutionary movement is in progress there. The town is in a state of siege. The presence of military, however, has failed to prevent attempts at popular uprisings and demonstrations of hostility to Emperor Francis Joseph.

DIMINUTION OF NUMBER OF ENGLISH STUDENTS AT OXFORD UNIVERSITY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Oxford, England, May 18.—The summer term has begun at Oxford, with the roll of students showing a further diminution. The number of undergraduates in residence for the autumn term was 1,400, for the winter term 1,000, and it has now fallen below 800. Oriel College, chief of the "sports colleges," has only 150 students, and Queens has the most, with 80. Few of the other colleges have more than 30 or 40. There are practically no evidences of the usual spring athletic activities that is "going strong" in the Officers' Training Corps. The Oxford Roll of Honor, which bears the names of Oxford men who have fallen in the fighting, grows apace. During the Easter vacation 45 names were added, including two in the sinking of the Falaba. The list includes well-known scholars, cricketers, track athletes, and footballers led by one most distinguished Oxford name, Lieutenant William Gladstone. Side by side with the college work, Oxford is making further and extended preparations for receiving the wounded soldiers. Some of the circulars issued for this purpose, The members of the college are to be sent to the hospital, where they will be given a room, and the building, walled off from the men's students.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Keeler of this city, state deputy of Modern Woodman and Grand Master of Masonic order of Wisconsin, for $50,000 damages for the suit was awarded the sum of $1.00. The suit was the result of a circular letter sent out from the Modern Woodman headquarters attacking the reputation of Morris who belongs to the latter faction of the Modern Woodman. The jury held that Morris had been libeled and his reputation had been injured and was entitled to the sum of one dollar. Under the verdict a party paid his own cost. Morris, who was charged with the shooting of Keeler, made public statement that he was satisfied with the case. It will not be appealed.

War News Summary.

A far-reaching victory in Bukovina, Austrian crown land on the eastern extremity of the Russian front, is claimed in an official announcement from Petrograd. According to this statement, Russians swept through Bukovina, taking back much of the territory they held early in the war, until they were driven out by the Austrians. Their successes are described of much importance.

It is reported the Russians have taken Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina, having broken down Austrian resistance over a ninety mile front and captured 20,000 prisoners. The Russian war office conceded further retreat in Russian Poland between the Pilia and Vistula rivers on part of the long front over which they were compelled by the Austro-German army to fall back.

The Turkish general staff at the Dardanelles reports the allies on Saturday made several attacks on the Turkish right wing. It is said they were repulsed with losses of 1,500 men. The British press representative at the Dardanelles telegraphs the allies have advanced about five miles up the Gallipoli peninsula.

An Amsterdam dispatch to a Paris newspaper says the German reply to the American note will be dispatched on Thursday and it is expected in Holland, Germany will decline to stop her method of submarine warfare. A plan to assassinate the Sultan of Turkey, Field Marshal Von Der Goltz, Field Marshal Von Sanders, and Enver Pasha is said to have been discovered in Constantinople.

Reports from the western front disclose no important changes subsequent to the victory near the two mile front near La Basse. Violent counterattacks were undertaken by the Germans, and it is said by the French war office to have failed and small gains for the allies near Abtain is reported.

The success of the offensive of the allies around La Basse is in the opinion of British observers balanced by the Russian reverse of the eastern arena of the war, a reverse which late official communications from Petrograd gradually confirm.

The campaign was so successfully launched in the past few days in the northern part of France, if it can be pushed home, must have a most serious effect on the German line in the belief of the British military circles.

JOHN D. AND HIS OIL GREAT SOCIAL EVILS

Clarence Darrow Gives His Ideas as to the Bad Points of American Society.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, May 18.—Clarence Darrow told the industrial relations commission today he believed the day was not far distant when jails and hospitals take their places. "I don't mean that some people won't be confined," he said, "but they will be treated for the social ills and not punished. Punishment is barbarism and the people generally are beginning to realize it. Some day we will wipe out the cause of crime and doctor criminals instead of abusing and mistreating them."

Most folks believe themselves innocent, Darrow thought. "I believe Rockefeller and Standard Oil have a most evil social influence, but Mr. Rockefeller thinks he is innocent. Everybody thinks himself innocent."

Roosevelt's Lawyer Takes Advantage to Secure Some Light on New York Job Printing Transactions.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Syracuse, May 18.—William Barnes resumed the witness stand at the supreme court here today for further cross examination in the $50,000 libel suit against Colonel Roosevelt. He was questioned by John M. Bower, chief counsel for the Colonel, who at once reverted to the McCarthy printing contract. In response Barnes said he received the $11,000 from the McCarthy contract and this was later paid to the Albany Journal company. He explained he transferred $20,000 to the Albany Journal company when Mr. Jones paid him the $11,000. This completed the transaction. He declared he had done nothing which would justify Mr. Lyons in paying him a salary.

Soe Line President Says Wet Blanket on Congress for Ten Years Would Be Great Boom Impetus.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Duluth, Minn., May 18.—"There would be a big business boom in the United States if congress could stopped from operating for ten years," declared Edmund Pennington, president of the Soo Line, who is in Duluth on a tour of inspection. He is vice president, and G. R. Huntington, general manager. "There would be no railroad building in the country until we shall have satisfactory rates which are now imperative. We can't make extensions unless we have money through increased rates."

THAW IS REMOVED FROM THE TOMBS

Suffering With Sore Throat and Rheumatism, He Is Taken to New York Jail.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, May 18.—Supreme Court Justice Hendricks signed an order today transferring Harry K. Thaw from his cell in the Tombs to the custody of the sheriff in Ludlow street jail. Thaw's counsel complained that Thaw was suffering from rheumatism and sore throat. In signing the order, Justice Hendricks said that inasmuch as Thaw is not a prisoner charged with any crime and the state does not wish to punish him, it would be better for him to be in the Ludlow street jail.

Thaw will not be given a jury trial until June 7. Justice Hendricks today postponed the case until that date in order that the appellate division may have time to render a decision on new attempts by the state to prevent such a trial.

There was a quarrel over change for a ten dollar bill, Mrs. Coppersmith slapped him, he picked up a hammer which he found, and hit her with it and then slashed her with a butcher knife. He killed the child in the same manner he said, when he screamed. He took the money, he said, to make it appear that the woman was a burglar. Petrick's arrest was based on finger prints.

WILSON VIEWS FLEET AS IT LEAVES HARBOR

PRESIDENT WATCHES FIVE MILE LINE OF SEA WARRIORS MOVE OCEANWARD.

IS BOUND FOR NEWPORT

Fleet Will Engage in a Series of Manoeuvres According to Previous Arrangements.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, May 18.—The big fleet of warships which have been anchored in the Hudson river for ten days, steamed out to sea at eleven o'clock today, with President Wilson reviewing the five mile line as it passed the Mayflower off the statue of Liberty. Headed by the superdreadnaught Wyoming, Admiral Fletcher's flagship, the sixteen big battleships and their train of fighting craft, steamed past the presidential yacht at a speed of fourteen knots, each with a sailor and marine standing at the rail at attention.

Tens of thousands of persons flocked to vantage points to view the great marine procession. Along the water front on both sides of the Hudson piers were black with spectators, hundreds of houseboats were filled with people, and Battery Park, the southernmost tip of Manhattan, was filled with crowds that stretched from the sea wall across the acres of green. Traffic on the Hudson was suspended between Manhattan and the New Jersey shore for half an hour before the fleet started.

The day was overcast, but through the clouds the sun shone at intervals. The Mayflower passed the Mayflower with crew and guns, the ship's band played the national anthem. There was little cheering in response. In his goodby to the fleet, the crowd seemed to be in a thoughtful mood.

Leaving New York the fleet made for Newport, rendezvous from which will be directed maneuvers in the war zone of the Atlantic. The president and the members of his party had arranged to return to Washington aboard the Mayflower, the only ship of the fleet to be so equipped. Secretary Tumulty, who was to go back to the capital by train.

FREE SPEECH CURBED BY PROPOSED BILL

When Assembly Finds It Out It Kills Heim Bill Preventing Candidates From Boosting Own Interests.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 18.—The Heim bill to prevent candidates from publishing statements regarding their candidacy or making any political attack upon their opponents was indefinitely postponed by the assembly last night, after Assemblymen Weber and Pieper had called attention to the fact that such a measure would be unconstitutional as abridging the right of free speech. When the bill was reached Assemblyman Spooner offered an amendment including newspapers. After this amendment was adopted the bill was killed because it was declared that it interfered with the right of free speech.

The assembly advanced the Bradley bill decreasing the fees to be paid for the reporting of fires. It killed the Laursen bill to exempt small telephone companies from the supervision of the railroad commission, the Everett bill to permit municipalities to subscribe to the stock of railroads, and the Laursen bill designating qualifications of insurance agents.

The Weissleder bill to permit persons to vote who are in line when the polls are closed was ordered engrossed. Final passage was given to the bill prohibiting persons from entering saloons; the Hedding bill for the regulation of the disbursement of civil service employees in cities of the first class and the Whitcomb bill incorporating provisions of the uniform marriage law, recommended by the American Bar association, passed. The assembly also passed a bill giving the city of De Pere the right to build a new bridge across the Fox river.

Except for two or three committee reports, the senate session was featureless last night. There was no calendar. The Fairchild bill to allow clubs not run for profit to hold liquor licenses notwithstanding the Baker law regarding limitation of licenses, was reported for passage with an amendment. The Stevens bill relating to liquor licenses was also reported back. The Bray amendment offered last week was recommended for rejection, but its essential idea is embodied in the committee's substitute amendment, and the bill was reported for adoption, and the bill again recommended for passage. The substitute provides that to prevent the exceeding of the limit, an existing license be surrendered.

ASSEMBLY INDORSES CONSOLIDATION BILL

Lower House Sends to Engrossment Measure Which Merges Half a Dozen Boards and Offices.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, May 18.—The Johnson consolidation bill embodying the state fish and game wardens' office, state fish commission, state board of forestry, and state conservation commission was sent to engrossment by the assembly today. It provides for a three member board for six year terms at $3,500 annually.

A bill by Assemblyman Pieper of Dunn county, to abolish nearly every office in the capital except constitutional officers, was introduced. It was reported as sweeping away to repeat two-thirds of the laws on the statute books.

The house sent back to the committee the Braden bill repealing many of the regulations governing fraternal societies. A large number of petitions of members of fraternal benefit associations against this bill were read yesterday.

The senate voted, 22 to 2, to sustain the governor's veto of the bill to confer police powers on the board of fire police commissioners of Milwaukee.

MAN WHO SHOT HEAD OF LISBON REBELS KILLED BY SOLDIERS

Would-be Assassin in Turn Shot Down and Is Saved From Mob Violence—Senator Chagas May Live.

Lisbon, via Paris, May 18.—Senator Freitas, who shot and dangerously wounded Jaco Chagas, president of the new cabinet, was slain at the Estremoz railway station by a soldier who witnessed the attack upon Senator Chagas. By his action the soldier forfeited an assault upon Freitas by civilians who were clamoring for his life. The assassin's body is still lying on the station platform, waiting the arrival of members of his family. It was Freitas who made the attack in the senate against Alphonso Costa's party, in the parliamentary conflict last year. It is believed in some quarters that the bullet which struck Chagas was intended for Costa, who arrived at Lisbon earlier in the day.

Chagas May Recover.
Improvement is shown in the condition of Jaco Chagas, new president of the cabinet, who was shot and dangerously wounded while on his way to the train. Examination showed the bullet to have entered the forehead and came out near the right parietal bone. It is feared that he may lose the sight of his right eye.

Lisbon again has resumed its normal appearance, except that no street cars are running.

The report direct from Lisbon that the condition of Senator Chagas is improving is in conflict with earlier dispatches from Madrid sent by way of the cable, saying the report received in the capital would be to the effect that Chagas died of his wounds.

MAN TRIED AS SPY MAY BE AMERICAN

Prisoner Charged by British Authorities With Aiding Germans, Says He Is an American.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, May 18.—The trial of Anton Kuiperle, who claims to be a naturalized American citizen, residing in Brooklyn, N. Y., charged with spying in aid of the German army, opened today before Lord Reading, lord chief justice, and Justices Avey and Lush. Kuiperle had been announced earlier that the hearing would be in camera, the authorities decided at the last moment on a public trial, and the court room was crowded. Admission to the trial was by ticket only. Kuiperle, a Dutchman, is charged with the intention of assisting the enemy of Great Britain and feloniously attempting to communicate information relating to the war to the military forces and material calculated to be useful to the enemy. The prosecution was conducted by the attorney general.

Kuiperle pleaded not guilty. In opening the case, the attorney general remarked the prisoners claimed to be an American, but the prosecution contended he is a German.

The prisoners were Carl Miller and his wife and Charles Jones. Miller and his wife were awaiting trial on charge of arson, and Jones is charged with the abduction of a woman. They were given into the custody of W. B. Gorman, captain of the Racine police department, who followed the prisoners in an automobile.

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT WISHES TO HEAR FROM THE IRISH REGIMENT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, May 18.—A desire to hear more about the Irish regiments and what they are doing at the front has been expressed in Parliament.

"We have all heard about the London Scottish, why have we not heard of the London Irish?" was the question put to the government, and the inquiring member added emphatically, "It even appears that some people in London are not aware that there is a London Irish. There is, however, such a body, which forms one of the battalions of the London Regiment, and it is now at the front. Why is it, then, that whenever casualties occur in the London Scottish, which is part of the same regiment, a signification 'London Scottish' is appended and the 'London Irish' is left out?"

The government spokesman hazarded the explanation that perhaps it was because the London Scottish was an old Territorial battalion and the Irish Rifles a new body. "Oh, dear no," replied the Irish member, "before the present war there was a reference to this battalion in the Official Army List."

The Under-Secretary could only assure the honorable member that the distinction made must be fortuitous and not intentional.

BRITISH ADMIRALTY NOW FACES RUPTURE

LONDON NEWSPAPERS TALK GUARDEDLY OF WHAT LOOKS LIKE A CABINET CRISIS.

LORD FISHER MAY QUIT

First Sea Lord May Resign As Result of Differences With First Lord of Admiralty Churchill.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, May 18.—What seems like a cabinet crisis suddenly has been sprung on Great Britain. There has arisen what appears to be a rupture between civil heads of the admiralty, Winston Spencer Churchill, and lords of the admiralty, but particularly Lord Fisher, admiral of the fleet. All kinds of rumors are current but the ministers are not letting the real facts out of the government office. There has been no new development so far today in the threatened break between Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, and Lord Fisher, admiral of the fleet. It is understood, however, that the matter will be subject of a statement in the house of commons today.

Lord Fisher May Resign.
The Daily Telegraph today says the resignation of Lord Fisher is thought to be probable.

The Times states that Lord Fisher has not attended the admiralty for the last two days and rumors arise from circles of friction between Mr. Churchill and Lord Fisher. In editorials the points to these reports as confirming the impression that the government, like the nation, has reached the restless stage.

"The government," presumably is anxious about the character of its own "which is being subject to wide spread public and private criticism both in public and private. The above mentioned fact is just a rumor and we trust and believe unfounded."

The Times further expresses any definite opinion, but suggests it would have a seaman at the head of the admiralty who would command popular approval and it thinks the only one for this post is Lord Fisher.

It was stated in authoritative circles today that the difference between Mr. Churchill and Lord Fisher is satisfactorily composed.

Official French Report.
Paris, May 18.—The French war office says: "On the Terrain to the west of the Yser canal, conquered by us yesterday and the day before, the Germans left about 2,000 dead and a great number of wounded."

"During the engagements yesterday we took many prisoners. To the east of the canal, we have consolidated positions recently taken by us."

"During the night the Germans undertook a particularly vicious counter attack, preceded this action with bombardment by artillery and bombs thrown from the air."

Arras Fiercely Bombarded.
"As for ourselves, we captured as a result of a night advance, a group of houses near the cemetery of Arras. Along the front to the north of Arras, the artillery continued by day and by night. The Germans bombarded Arras with particular ferocity."

In the region of Ville-Au-Bois, near Berry-Au-Bac, the enemy yesterday undertook a fresh attack."

Russian Staff Reports.
Petrograd, via London, May 18.—In official statement issued by the Russian general staff it is stated that Austro-German columns pursued Russian troops which moved to new positions between the Pilia and upper Vistula. It is added, however, that attacks against German occupied fronts in the direction of the Straits and Colina were fruitless, as were the assaults along the Pruth.

The general, it was asserted, officially when Villa, an officer in the Mexican army, attempted to quiet the boisterous soldiers at the Chihuahua state capital. The incident was said to have no political significance.

El Paso, May 18.—Safety was believed to be the German-American aviator, Frederick Bonnie, dolours from near San Luis and food, has wandered into the Villa Potrero, it was reported today in advices from the south. Bonnie was the principal in an adventure a week ago, in which his aeroplane was struck by a shell from the Villa artillery.

SCOTT HOLDS ATHLETICS TO ONE SCRATCH SINGLE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Chicago, May 18.—LARRY Lajoie presented Jim Scott, White Sox pitcher, from going into the no-hit ball of fame yesterday, when he slipped a ground ball down deep short in the fourth inning, which Weaver failed to stop. The Sox won the game 6 to 2, through the stellar pitching of Scott. His control was not perfect, for he walked six batters. Herb Pennock opposed Scott and four batters led an attack against him, driving in three runs with doubles and scored two others himself.

GOLF ASSOCIATION DIRECTORS TO MEET

Schedule for State Tournament Will Be Arranged at Conference Next Monday.

The annual meeting of the directors of the State Golf Association will be held at the Blue Mound course, Milwaukee, Monday, May 24, when a schedule for the state tournament will be adopted. Several radical changes are in prospect, but the authorities are not making any announcement of the possible schedule changes. "You can say this much," writes Secretary Guy F. Gregg of the state association, "the state directors will not tolerate any proposal which will change the character of the state tournament from its present reputation of being a golf meet for all the duffers who want to come, as well as the biggest state tournament in the country, in number of entries and the purpose to arrange a schedule to keep it such, with plenty of play for the entire tournament week." The directors will meet from each club in the association, will play informally in the forenoon, have a luncheon and business meeting, and then play for an annual directors' trophy in the afternoon.

RICHIE MITCHELL GETS ACID TEST WITH WOLGAST.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milwaukee, Wis., May 18.—Ritchie Mitchell, the local lightweight, will enter the South Side A. C. ring tonight in an even choice with Ad Wolgast, former champion of the youngsters, who but recently graduated from the teachers, is conceded to have a good chance of outpointing the veteran over the ten round route because of his cleverness and dazzling speed. In his three starts as a 135 pounder he has whipped Charley Souly, Freddie Andrews and Mel Coogan. He is substituting for Freddie Welsh, the title holder because of a lame shoulder was turned down by Promoter Ben Stempel. Young Scotty of Milwaukee and Kid Mahoney of Racine, featherweights, will appear in the semi-windup.

George Stallings pays Clark Griffith a high compliment when he says that he has one of the best pitching staffs he has ever seen. He thinks that Griffith will be a pennant contender, but it must be remembered that the only American league club George has seen for some time is the one piloted by his friend, C. Mack.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

The surest test, say the wise ones, that Matty is finally on the road to Hasbeenville is that he is willing to pass and hitting batsmen something he was not wont to do in his old days.

Under a new order from President Tener, National league nippers are not alternating this year, but one man of each pair always works behind the bat and the other on the bases. Last year every pair except Klem and Emswiler alternated in each game, but Mr. Tener believes better results are obtained by each man having a specialty and devoting all his attention, either to calling balls and strikes or to making the base decisions.

The veteran Jim Connor, for many years with the Providence Grays and at one time manager of that team, has been signed to manage the Pawtucket team in the Colonial league. New Bedford will this year have two teams in the league, since the promoters could not get a park in Brockton in which to play. One of the teams, the Tiptops and the other, the Whales, which leads to a suggestion that Weegman as well as the Wards may be backing this little Fed circuit.

"It's odd, but Dave Bancroft, making so good with the Phillies, third choice of the Portland infield, while the first and second choices already are voted failure. Cleveland had first pick and took Bill Rogers to fill Lajoie's place. Rogers has not been going well. New York had next choice and took Art Kores. Then it got Lohert, and Kores was sent to the minors. Philadelphia took Bancroft, and he looks like one of the good bets of the season. The St. Louis Cardinals, it is understood, had a chance to get Bancroft and Scout Eddie Hearn recommended that he be taken, but other information was that he would not do, and Manager Huggins passed.

Donovan's Yankees will deserve to be named the midwests of Ban Johnson's circuit. Their four regulars on the team barely over five feet lined up against teams with six footers, they look like schoolboys. Besides, the new uniforms of gray tend to make them look smaller.

The local Winnipeg factions, having failed to reach an agreement, an injunction was issued restraining Harry Webb and the Northern Association from operating a ball club at Winnipeg, but upon Webb and the league giving bond of $20,000 as guarantee against any damages that might be awarded, the injunction was dissolved. A suit was granted, and the Winnipeg club will continue to operate pending a final trial of the case.

The signing of Frank Baker by the Upland club of the little independent Delaware County league, caused something of a storm among the other clubs in the league, the managers of which declared that while they are independent, they are not outlaws and would have no contract jumper in the ranks. The management of the Upland club was told plainly that it could either drop Baker or drop out of the league.

With the exception of Infielder Pipp and Outfielder High the present Yankees aren't greatly changed from the 1914 team. But the addition of Pipp and High said to represent the difference between a winning and losing team. And it will be recalled that these two lads were contributed to the Yanks by the Tigers in an effort to strengthen the Gothamites. At this date the Yanks and Tigers are setting the pace.

Miller Huggins pulled a strange trick in a game against Pittsburgh the other day. After Wagon had made three successive hits, one of them a triple, Huggins sent a pinch hitter to bat for him against the same pitcher.

Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, formerly British woman golf champion, who appeared in matches in this country and Canada a couple of years ago, has decided to go to the front with the "Bantams" regiment. The "Bantams" are composed of men under the regulation size. She marches at their head when they parade and they look up to her, and upon her, as their mascot.

A player has to show a lot to be worth anything these days. It is said the Decatur league club offered to take $1,000 for Pitcher Kilmeyer if the New York Giants would keep him, while the Peoria club informed the St. Louis Cardinals management that it would consider any sort of an offer for Shortstop Dinger. Another offer was made willing to invest a cent more in the players.

Wind Watch Regularly.
Concerning the importance of watching a watch regularly the bureau of standards states: "Even the delay of an hour in the time of winding may cause considerable variation in the rate in some instances. The winding should not be done jerkily, but steadily, and not too rapidly, and its conclusion should be approached carefully to avoid injury to the spring or winding mechanism."

Collins' Superstitions.
When it comes to superstition, Eddie Collins has most of his fellow players beaten by several city blocks, and long on the list of them.

Collins pulls the stuff right on the ball field before all the people, but not many of them see it. Eddie must have his bat on the end and no other man on the club dares to touch that bat.

If two bats in the pile happen to get crossed Eddie will instantly straighten them out. If he doesn't see the thing in time, some fellow on the other side is almost sure to make a three base hit.

After one of the enemy is retired and the ball is whipped around the infield, Collins always must be returned to him before tossed back to the pitcher. If Eddie doesn't give the ball to the pitcher the enemy is liable to bat in six runs.

When he starts to dress for the game he removes his street hat first and immediately puts on his baseball cap. Failure to do so would mean he wouldn't get any hits that day.

If he goes three times and doesn't get a hit he touches each one of the players on the bench with his hat before going to the fourth time. He did that in Chicago the other day and got a triple.

When he goes to bat he takes his chewing gum out of his mouth and sticks it on the button of his cap. When he receives the gun from his cap in his mouth, otherwise he would faint.

AMATEUR ATHLETICS SUFFERING A SLUMP

Strong Influence Jim E. Sullivan Gave to Athletics Is Beginning to Be Missed.

(By Hal Sheridan.)
New York, May 18.—The strong influence that the late James E. Sullivan exercised in the affairs of the Amateur Athletic Union, over which he presided for so many years, is beginning to be missed.

The middle over the movement to have the eastern states represented at the Panama Pacific athletic carnival in August shows that the same spirit which made the A. A. U. the leading amateur sport organization in the world is now lacking. There is even no positive information available that the dates and place for the tryouts have been settled.

"Jim" Sullivan was the greatest publicity expert in the sporting world and he appreciated that to keep the enthusiasm of the amateur athletes awake their activities must be generously advertised. What's the use of working for weeks on a track or field if you don't get your name in the papers?

That's the feeling of the youths who compete in Amateur sport circles and it's simply a natural human desire for recognition of good work. To keep the interest of the athletes alive and working for weeks on a track or field if you don't get your name in the papers?

Amateur athletes all over the country are deeply interested in the big games to be held in Princeton, August and they would welcome news of any character about the preliminary games. Even those boys who have not a ghost of a chance of going to the Olympic meet at the Fair are anxious to read about it as are contenders themselves.

This meet will be the biggest sport event in the whole world this year and has more news possibilities than anything else on the sport calendar. There should be a story for the papers almost every day. And if the A. A. U. officials desire the right kind of a story when the event takes place next August they can help make this possible by opening the news valves right now and letting off all the steam they possess.

EDDIE RICKENBACHER SETS A NEW RECORD FOR SHORT DISTANCE.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Indianapolis, May 18.—E. V. Rickenbacher, sensational driver, established a new short distance record for the Indianapolis motor speedway by reeling off eight laps in practice for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race at the rate of 94 miles an hour. His fastest trip around the track was made in 1:35, or slightly under 95 miles an hour.

The Kansas State league will have the distinction of playing the shortest season of any organization in the game this year. The league decided not to start. Hutchinson and Emporia, however, had gathered their teams and decided to play a series of five games for the "championship of the league." After this series the Hutchinson team was disbanded, but it is understood the Emporia players will be taken on an exhibition tour by Manager Ira Bidwell.

Blatz BEER

MILWAUKEE'S MOST EXQUISITE

Beer Best Brain Food, Says Prof. Chandler

And It's Never Adulterated, So Columbia Man Tells Master Brewers' Convention

Prof. Charles Frederick Chandler is the ranking Professor of Chemistry at Columbia University, New York City, the largest University in the world. "Beer," said Prof. Chandler, "is a beverage prepared from barley, water, hops and yeast. Beer is food. American beer contains 6 per cent. solid food, only 3 to 4 per cent. alcohol and also lecithin, which is real brain food. Beer and bread are both made from cereals; bread with water and is solid; beer with more water and is liquid. Yeast converts both into palatable and readily digested food. Both contain alcohol. Beer is not intoxicating in ordinary quantities and beer is one of the foods that is free from bacteria. It is appetizing and aids digestion. I have had some experience with beer and have been a consumer. I have enjoyed most perfect health and I guess I am a pretty good specimen of the food value of beer."

"I don't believe there is any beer made in the United States that is what you call adulterated. It may be misbranded, but not adulterated. If the prohibitionists drive beer from the household they will deprive a large part of the population of a wholesome article of food. There you have reasons enough why beer has become our national beverage."

(N. Y. Sun, Oct. 6, 1914.)

IT makes everybody feel good to know that a little of the Real Tobacco Chew gives a lot more satisfaction than a mouthful of the old big chew sort. There you have the reason why men like to tell each other about the Real Tobacco Chew.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED, RIGHT CUT IS SHORT SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

ELBERT HUBBARD.
Elbert Hubbard and his wife were passengers on the ill-fated Lusitania. They were going abroad to study war conditions at close range, intending to return in time for the June issue of the magazine publications, the "Philistine" and the "Fra".

Elbert Hubbard was the most unique character of his generation, in the world of letters, his name and fame, which was world-wide, dates back to the history to the Cuban-Spanish war when he wrote his "Message to Garcia".

This message, which emphasized the fact that the world is waiting for people who do things, struck a popular chord. The railroads and large manufacturers reproduced it and sent it broadcast among their employees. It was translated in twenty different languages and millions of copies distributed all over the world.

The author was found by the founder of the Rovercraft plant, at East Aurora, a little town near Buffalo, New York, where from a small beginning he established and developed what has long been known as the best equipped printing office and bindery in the world. Everything turned out was a work of art. He became a manufacturer of mission furniture and novelties, and employed five hundred men and women gathered from the four corners of the land—discouraged people whom he adopted as his boys and girls, and in whom he took a personal interest, doing the work of a philanthropist.

They filled his farm of three hundred and sixty acres, which was a part of the Rovercraft plant. Manned his hotel, which was one of the best in the country, and their love and respect for the "Fra," as he was familiarly known, gave the place more the atmosphere of a home than a great manufacturing industry. His tragic death comes to the big Rovercraft family as a personal loss.

Mr. Hubbard's definition of an orator was "A man with a message," and his messages were in such demand that he was engaged for months ahead, commanding larger pay than any speaker on the American platform. His pen was like a two-edged sword, and his friends and enemies were about equally divided. He offended the entire German population, not long ago, by an issue of the "Philistine" devoted to the war, in which he asked the question, on the title page, "Who took the lid off of hell?" His answer was "Bill Kaiser," on which he enlarged to his heart's content.

He had no use for fads and fancies, and was so sacrilegious, in dealing with the churches, that many good people refused to read his writings, yet his creed was so broad and generous and his writings so clear and forceful that he was freely endorsed.

He was original, and his short, terse epigrams were like tacks. There was only one Elbert Hubbard in the country, and his place as well as his works will be difficult to fill.

THE PROBLEM.
That the United States is in greater peril of a serious war today than she has been at any time since the firing on Fort Sumter is the consensus of opinion among conservative observers in Washington. This does not mean, of course, that war may not be avoided, but it does mean that the peril is grave. German diplomacy was gravely at fault at the beginning of the war, in that Berlin was left wholly unaware that the violation of Belgian neutrality would inevitably result in Great Britain's joining forces with France and Russia. Whether or not the German ambassador has made his government realize the extent of American indignation over the destruction of American life which followed the torpedoing of the "Lusitania" it is impossible now to determine. That President Wilson himself seriously misjudged American opinion when, on Thursday night, he declared at Philadelphia that a nation may be "too proud to fight" is the view entertained here, while it is equally the conviction of close observers that the president was brought to a prompt realization of his mistake and of the popular impatience with the "watchful waiting" policy as applied to Germany. The indications all point to a material alteration of policy at the White House. The president has sent to Berlin a note forceful and to the point. Germany apparently realizing to some extent that she has gone too far, has announced that she will refrain from sinking neutral ships, even when they contain contraband of war, without affording a means of escape to the non-combatant passengers, but that is not sufficient to satisfy the demands of the United States. Will Germany abandon her policy of sinking, without warning and provision for the escape of non-combatant passengers ships belonging to the belligerents? If Germany refuses to give this pledge, will the United States declare war against her, or will this country, even should Germany refuse the pledge demanded, find some other method of reprisal, as for instance, severing diplomatic relations, stopping all trade with Germany and furnishing arms and ammunition to the allies? These are the questions on which hinge the outcome, war or peace, and there is no one in the United States competent to answer both.

Thus far the Rock county fair at Evansville has not informed the public of its stellar program, but it is safe to say that it is going to be worth visiting. With the Rock county fair and the Janesville fair in prospect we can well afford to give up plans for a Fourth and permit Beloit to celebrate this year and help all we can to make it a success. Make it a slogan, "Rock County to the Fore." This includes Beloit and its fair, although it is known officially as the Winnebago county fair.

Germany has made a great uproar about the shipment of arms to foreign nations at war with them, but here is the Westinghouse company, which might be called a German-American company, taking a contract for hundreds of thousands of supplies, including rifles, for service in the ranks of the allies. The only trouble is that Germany can not secure quantities of war with any guaranty of safety if she should order them this side of the Atlantic.

Perhaps after today's conference at Madison we may be able to discover why the Wisconsin Industrial Home for Women was not built, to which Agnes Bumgarnter was sentenced. At any rate it will clarify the atmosphere to know that someone is actually taking after the punishment of the girl criminal if the state board of control takes charge of affairs.

The subject of geography must be a hard one to teach these days with the thought the continent of Europe must change its limitations as to kingdoms and empires or republics at any time. However the teacher that can bring the best out of her pupils on this subject is to be congratulated and commended not only by the parents, but by the board of education.

The dead fish that were found along the banks of the river early in the spring attracted numerous gulls. Some have stayed and if they are protected and permitted to nest unmolested, by the ardent hunters who enjoy nothing but the sake of killing, we may have other feathered visitors next year.

There seems to be considerable confusion at Madison as to what to do regarding appropriations passed by the 1912 legislature. The one solution of that problem is to repeal them all and thus save the state treasury the money it does not have. The only way to make up a deficit is to retrench.

There are so many proposed laws before the state legislature for actual consideration that some of the minor ones are being slighted in the general rush of legislation. "Take time," gentlemen, but take time by the forelock and be ready for adjournment when the date is fixed upon.

It is mighty easy to make statements against the character of a man or woman, but sometimes it is mighty hard to prove them. Words are wonderful things. They are sweet like honey, and like bees they have terrible stings.

The state legislature is again in session so we may expect some sort of an explosion during the present week. There are lots of bills that need attention and the quicker they are disposed of the sooner the members can get back to their corn planting.

Portugal steps in with its nice little revolution just in time to demand public attention. Meanwhile a minor skirmish at Lisbon is worth more in the news columns than a victory in Galicia or an advance on the line of battle along the Ypres.

The small garden that has all its crops is anxiously watched these nice mornings to see if any frost has been around. The best way to remedy that is to get up with the sun and water the plants before it is too late.

It is the fate of practically every man to be bossed by his rich relatives and imposed upon by his poor ones.

Nowadays when a feller's family has strawberries for dinner the neighbors begin to look wise and inquire where he got his money.

We see a want ad in the paper: "Wanted, steady position by man who understands horses." This is the first time we ever knowed that horses counted for money.

Jim Higgins says he nearly died from strangulation once when he was a young man, but the governor's pardon arrived just in time.

Fanning a Weary Plowman.
The following letter, being circulated by a well-known patent concern in this state, explains itself:

"Gentlemen: Would you care to examine into the merits of a fan adapted to be used in connection with a plow?"

"The object of the invention is to provide a plow with an adjustment vibrating fan which is actuated as the plow is carried through the field to operate a fan in front of the face of the person guiding the plow."

"The invention is of a simple and durable construction, is the property of a client of ours, and is protected by a pending application, and interested we shall be glad to submit a specification and drawings."

The next great invention should be an automobile plow which will allow a farmer to play poker in the shade of the old apple tree and go to a picture show while his plow is running itself.

"You'll have to pay for that little boy," said the conductor on a Michigan Central train the other day.

"I guess not," said the lady firmly.

"Have you never had to buy tickets for him?"

"You will have to pay his fare this time."

"No, I shall not pay his fare. The conductor,"

"If you don't pay his fare I can not let him occupy a seat; I will stop the train and put him off."

"Stop the train and put him off you like him? He's got my little boy; never saw him before."

WISCONSIN BUTTER-MAKERS REVEAL HIGH STANDINGS IN MAY SCORING CONTEST.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., May 18.—Between 40 and 50 of the creamery men who submitted samples of butters in the May scoring contest received scores of 30 or better, and an average of 29.5 was placed on the 109 tubs of butter entered in the competition. SANITARY CAMPAIGN STARTED IN ENGLAND

Danger of Unburied Corpses of Men and Soldiers Causes Haste to Improve Conditions.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
London, May 18.—The greatest sanitary campaign in the history of Great Britain is on.

Hundreds of decomposed bodies are lying just across the channel in Europe. Hot weather is approaching. Henceforth disease threatens to become as great an enemy to the soldiers and civil population as the more material foe.

British health authorities have already declared war on the common fly. Housewives throughout the British Isles will soon receive orders to take every possible precaution against this disease carrier. Every particle of food served in her home must be scrupulously screened. The government will place her on her honor to fight against contagion just as the soldiers are fighting against the enemy in the field.

To health authorities point out that less than an equal distance from London to Newcastle, England, are the greatest disease cesspools of the European battlefields. They refer to the flooded districts of Yser river where bodies of men and horses killed in the fighting months ago still remain polluting the air in every direction. With the coming of hot summer weather millions of flies will gather. These very government believes could easily disseminate disease germs into England.

One of the first English authorities on sanitation to sound the menace of disease for the coming summer was Professor Simpson, King's College, London. He decries that the armies of Europe will be found in a radically different physical, mental and material condition in August and Autumn of 1915. Should epidemics then arise they will not be confined to the armies that are stricken, nor will the evil populations in the devastated areas escape, he asserted.

The government has warned district sanitation officers throughout the country to pay special attention to foodstuffs intended for the consumption of troops. Foods with possible taint that might make the soldiers ill and weaken their physical resistance to disease will not reach the British soldiers if the government can avoid it.

British authorities at all channel ports have been instructed to examine every person entering the country to ascertain if he is medically fit.

WOMAN'S PAGE

BY RUTH CAMERON

A PROVERB REVERSED.

Old folks should be seen and not heard. Don't you think it is a queer thing to find an old proverb? It came to me the other day when I watched a man of sixty-five or seventy sitting alone in a crowd of young people. One of them, the hostess, was his daughter, the rest were the young people of the neighborhood. They were nice young people and they were not rude to him—far from it. They were all civil and courteous, and yet—well, he was unmistakably out of it.

Apart Instead of a Part.

The life ebbled and swelled about him, the sallies of wit, the references to other good times flew back and forth across his head; he was not a part of it. Now and then someone spoke to him, evidently making a conscientious effort to do so, but for the most part he sat in silence, neither speaking nor spoken to.

As I watched him and saw how little he resented his isolation, with what pathetic indifference and acquiescence he acquiesced in it, I felt a surge of indignation, not only for him but for all the older folks who sit apart and apart in homes all over the country. And not only against this group of carelessly happy young people, but against you and me and all the other young and middle-aged folks all over the world who create such isolation.

"I Never Saw These Before."

In another home where I was calling, the daughter of the house, generally considered a sweet and thoughtful girl, offered to show me a book of snapshots. Her father was in the room and when she came back with the pictures he gave her my shoulder pathetically interested. "I never saw these before," he said.

Old people should be seen and not heard. Are you impressing that upon the hearts of the older people whose lives touch yours, by failing to share your interests with them, by answering them sharply when they ask some question the better, the slowness of the older mind or the different point of view of the older generation, and by letting them feel out of it when you have your good times?

Questions and Answers.

Question—"Do you think a husband should give his wife a salary?"

Answer—"I think a wife should have a fair and definite proportion of her husband's earnings. It doesn't matter whether you call it a salary or not. Every woman should know what her husband earns; the two should talk over and plan expenditures together; a portion should be allotted for the household expenses and the other for her personal expenses. No matter how generous a husband is, no woman likes to have her every cent spent. Nor does it make for economy or wise management to have haphazard sums handed out to one instead of a definite allowance on which one can plan.

to the projecting ends—gaspipe makes good, strong handles.

THE TABLE.

Beef Brains—Soak brains over night. Skin well, so all bloody parts are well cleaned. Put to boil in cold water, with a little vinegar or lemon juice; add a couple of bay leaves and peppercorns. Boil fifteen minutes. Slice and serve with boiled spinach.

Beef Tongue With White Beans—Put tongue to boil in cold water for 2 1/2 hours, with a little salt and spices. Have beans soaked in water overnight and cook them with tongue three-fourths hour. Drain liquid and serve.

Mixed Salad—Two cups ground cabbage, two cups apples diced, one stalk celery diced, one-half pound English walnuts ground fine, one-half pint cream, one cup mayonnaise dressing, one cup vinegar. Mix in order given and serve on leaves of lettuce.

Rhubarb Pie—Cut rhubarb in small pieces, add one beaten egg, one large cup sugar and one heaping tablespoon flour. Stir all together. Line pie tin with rich paste. Pour in filling and bake. No top crust.

Ice Cream Gelatin—Often when making ice cream it is the custom to put a quart of canned fruit in the freezer with the ice cream. This makes a delicious dish, but something even better is: for one gallon of plain ice cream add one cup of gelatin already prepared, one cup cream, half cup shredded pineapple, on each dish put a maraschino cherry.

YOUR GARDEN.

Do not dig up your daffodils and hyacinths. You can loosen the top soil and sow phlox, candy tuft, sweet alyssum, etc., and they will blossom all summer. Next spring the others will come up as beautiful as ever.

ECUADOR GIRL TO WED AN AMERICAN

Miss Maria Angelica Carbo.

Miss Maria Angelica Carbo, daughter of the late Ecuadorean Minister to the United States and Mme. Carbo, is soon to marry. Her engagement to Willis R. Jones, a Baltimore lawyer, has just been announced. The marriage date has not yet been set, but is reported to be planned for early in the coming autumn.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Not so very long ago I met a fellow. Since that time I have been thinking of him. He brought me out. When he left that night I did not ask him to call again. Since then I have met him several times and now would like to have him call. Would it be proper for me to ask him to call? I am afraid he would think I am running after him. He is a very nice fellow, but I think that for the world I am nine years old. My folks seem to think it strange that I do not keep steady company. Do you think I ought to, or am I too young?

FOOLISH GIRL.

If the man wants to call he will ask to. You have waited too long to suggest it. Very truly yours, your friend, who is not too young.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Am a girl of sixteen. Do you think it is proper for me to let a boy friend kiss me good night after taking me out for an enjoyable evening?

K. With the changing seasons this question comes up for answer and discussion. As I have said a hundred times before, it is both unconventional and unwise for a girl to permit any man to kiss her unless she is engaged to him. Tomorrow's mail will doubtless bring me a usual, a common, a monstrous. But what I think, or what the man thinks is unimportant. Facts prove the convention to be a good one. Facts prove that the girl who follows the strict rule will never have anything serious to regret in her friendships with men, while the majority of the girls who go wrong start on the downward path by yielding to the man who claims the right to kiss in payment for an evening's entertainment.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Dick did not tell Nell that there was a prospect of her being dragged into court in a scandal over the Ellison divorce proceedings. It seemed too horrible to be true; surely there must be some way to head off that woman who strewed her path with wreckage. He simply said that there would be a divorce, and Nell had no more to say. He had been surprised at the news.

Miss Pauline Siebenthal.

left him with, "I must think this thing over and see what can be done."

When he entered the door, he heard the baby crying and Nell came hurrying toward him, her eyes red with weeping.

"What is it, darling?" he asked tenderly. "What has happened?" "Oh, Dick," moaned the dejected little creature, burying her face on his shoulder, "that woman will be the death of me yet. Read this."

He took the paper from her trembling hand and read:

"Mrs. Morton: I am sending you a copy of the letter I am mailing to all the doctor's patients. I intend they shall be informed as to his character. After all the countryside has read this I imagine it will not be so easy for you to go about with your head in the air, for you will be unmasked."

"One you have deeply wronged," "Anna Ellison."

Then he opened the circular letter. "Dear Dr. Ellison: I am sending you this letter to tell you what kind of a man you are receiving into your home in the intimate capacity of doctor. I shall not go into details, but when I say I am driven to petition for a divorce on account of his relations with Mrs. Richard Morton, you will understand what I mean, and I will have done my duty."

"An injured wife," "Anna Ellison."

Dick drew his hysterical wife down on his knee and held her close while he said, "Now, Nell dear, you must stop crying. We will find some way out of this thing. We must quiet the poor baby. He is surely in trouble, judging from the way he cries," and he led the way to the bedroom.

"There's no dinner ready or—"

"Never mind that; just cook a couple of eggs and make some tea while I quiet the baby." Dick's manner was so calm that it helped to quiet Nell. When they sat down to the impromptu lunch with the baby sitting in his carriage, Dick said: "The doctor told me this was impending when we went for the ride the other night, but I had no idea she would strike so soon. I hoped we could work out some plan to make her malice harmless and I could tell you the whole thing at once. I told Parsons about it this noon. He has a good head on him, and he will work tooth and nail for you."

"Oh, Dick, to think of every patient of the doctor's reading that awful letter and thinking I have done something disgraceful. They will think there is some truth in it, if she

USE COCOANUT OIL FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulitised cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap. Anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulitised cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

HER HIGH VAULT SMASHES RECORD

Miss Pauline Siebenthal.

In making a leap of six feet one inch in the pole vault event, Miss Pauline Siebenthal, a "coed" of Indiana University, recently broke the world's record for women, the best previous mark for a woman being five inches below this figure. The girl athlete is confident that she can better her record breaking performance. She is being coached by Childs, the former Yale star.

His System.

"Working until seven every night? Your employer must be a fend for work." "No," explained the stenographer, "he gossips and cracks jokes all day with anybody who will listen to him. Then, when all the other business men go home, we get to work."

Filibustering.

"Why does the senator keep talking in that rambling way? I don't know what he's aiming at, do you?" "Sure I do. He's filibustering to keep his daughter from singing."—Puck.

A WOMAN'S HAIR AND THE STORY IT TELLS

Somebody has said that a woman's teeth are milestones indicating her age, but a far more important feature indicative of years is the hair. Many a woman has kept her youthful appearance long past middle life because of proper care of the hair, and in this care the first considerations are absolute cleanliness and a choice of the right shampoo. It is not advisable to use a cleanser made for all purposes, but rather always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of Canthrox from your druggist. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth. Advertisement.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May Be Addressed To Mrs. Thompson, in Care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young woman in my early twenties. I have been married five years and have two bright little children. I loved my husband once and let him nag, but don't show that you care. If your indifference to the way he feels does not care him of his habit, leave him and get out of his house. Your children ought not to live in the atmosphere which now exists.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Not so very long ago I met a fellow. Since that time I have been thinking of him. He brought me out. When he left that night I did not ask him to call again. Since then I have met him several times and now would like to have him call. Would it be proper for me to ask him to call? I am afraid he would think I am running after him. My husband knows this. I do not flirt, but he always accuses me of having some thing to do with other men. He was the only man I ever loved and boasts about it to other people. Why do you suppose he acts this way? He brings his friends to the house and tells me to dress for them. When I get into conversation with them he scolds me after they are gone. When I talk he says I talk too much. And when I don't talk he says I am a crank. Now what can I do? When I am sick he calls me lazy. When I don't dress up when we are alone he calls me a slob and more slowly toward the end. He has no affection or sympathy for me whatever. People who come here say how neat everything is.

STOUGHTON HOLDING A RECORD REVIVAL

Evangelist John M. Linden is receiving many conversions at Gatherings Held in Big Army.

The town of Stoughton in Dane county is experiencing a wonderful revival under the leadership of John M. Linden of Madison, Wis., a former first assistant to Evangelist "Billy" Sunday. The campaign is under the auspices of the Baptists, Congregationalists and the English and Norwegian Methodists and the meetings are held in the armory seating 1,000 people. The armory is arranged like a tabernacle with wooden benches, a large platform for singers, a sawdust trail and all the paraphernalia of the modern religious evangelistic campaign. Night after night large crowds are attending and on Sunday the trail was opened for converts for the first time.

After two days of preparation preaching by Evangelist Linden getting the Christians ready, he finally turned to the winning of converts on Sunday and the results have been fairly startling to the people of this community. In this one day's work just 120 members of the churches came forward and gave the evangelist their hand in a new consecration and just 120 came forward giving their hearts to Christ for the first time. In the afternoon the women of Stoughton packed the building and in the evening a monster crowd taxed its capacity. The town is deeply stirred and since the meetings will not close until May 30 large results are looked for.

Aside from the celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the establishment of the local society, the members of the church and congregation had planned to show in a substantial manner their esteem for their pastor, Rev. O. J. Kvale. The Rev. Thorson, pastor of the Lutheran church of Janesville, was on the program of the afternoon, and aside from his address on "Missions," assigned the pleasant task of presenting to Pastor Kvale in the name of the congregation an elegant new automobile. The machine is complete in every detail with all modern equipments. In accepting the gift, Rev. Kvale referred in a very feeling way to his long pastorate at Orfordville and to the many enduring friendships that he had formed while here. He assured the donors of his appreciation, not only of the gift, but more of the friendship which it bespoke.

FEARS NO OUTBREAK OF CATTLE SCOURGE

State Veterinarian Eliason Says Probability of Recurrence of Disease Is Practically Nil.

Madison, Wis., May 18.—With the foot and mouth epidemic cleaned up, the probability of a recurrence of the disease is practically nil, according to Dr. O. H. Eliason, state veterinarian. Just as soon as a new case is discovered, in whatever state it may be, the state and federal officials will pounce down upon it and smother it with a quick stroke of official authority. None have this lesson learned more than officials in Illinois, it is said, whose military tactics in combating the disease was responsible for its spread into neighboring states despite the strict regulations enforced to check it.

Dr. Eliason has been served with a notice that his testimony is desired by the congressional committee which is meeting at Chicago this week to conduct inquiries into the recent foot and mouth epidemic throughout the country.

FARMERS TO BRING STOCK FOR JUDGING

Fair Board Arranges to Have Blue Ribbon Exhibits for Meet Next Saturday and at the Fair.

Members of the Janesville fair board and a number of Rock county farmers held a meeting last night to make arrangements for the stock judging contest at the fair this fall. Stock of various kinds have been promised and it is expected that the exhibit will consist of the finest stock of Rock county.

Speaking of the contest, one of the directors said:

"We recognize the importance of interesting the young men in the study and improvement of domestic animals on the farm, so the managers of the Janesville fair will make the stock judging contest an important feature of their program. To teams of five contestants will be the most efficient work in judging horses, cattle, sheep and swine assigned for that purpose. The contestants to give their reasons for selecting the best animal of each class. The board will make the final award."

"Incidentally," the speaker continued, "it would not be a bad idea at all for the boys and young men who have but a slight knowledge of the essentials of stock judging to come to the special meeting we have arranged for them on next Saturday. To further the interests of the contest at the fair, the board has gone to the expense of sending this notice to the trial to make Rock county and southern Wisconsin men and boys realize more fully the advantages of raising pure stock and to help these people in the selection of the same and show them just how to do it."

"Prof. J. L. Torrey of the university will be in direct charge of this work on Saturday and will lecture on the finer points of the exhibit, present and also give a good idea as to the proper methods employed in the marking of horses, cattle, sheep and swine."

"In addition to the judging contest, no doubt there will be formed a county stock breeders' association. The Commercial club is behind this idea and have several very eminent speakers for the occasion."

All boys under the age of twenty years are eligible to the stock judging contest and the fair. Father and son alike are invited to the meetings Saturday at the fair grounds.

CAPRICES OF KITTY SCORES A BIG HIT

Elsie Janis Is Seen In a Most Noteworthy Production.

"The Caprices of Kitty," in which the clever Elsie Janis was featured at the Apollo yesterday, was one of the most interesting photoplays that has been seen in this city. It is a refreshing relief from the ordinary pictures and is an unusually good production even for Paramount.

"The Caprices of Kitty" was written by Elsie Janis and directed by Phillips Smalley. It is brimming over with attractive situations. Kitty is young, an heiress, adored by a doting guardian. She goes to Miss Smythe's Select Seminary, and when the play opens it is rehearsal afternoon of the annual school drama. Kit is missing! A note is discovered in Kit's room which horrifies the audience principal—Kit has obtained permission to drive her car every afternoon from 4 to 5, and has gone without a chaperon—and there is Kit ten miles from home in dire distress, already late and with a blowout. Then—just as it happens in the sentimental novel, "Love at First Sight," that she is reading—a handsome young man appears and offers assistance! A charming love romance follows.

AMOS REHBERG CO.

Janesville's Greatest Clothing and Shoe Store. Corner Milwaukee and River Streets, Janesville, Wis.

Like all of the Morosco-Bosworth productions it was a perfection in every detail. The scenes and mountings were most beautiful and the finish was quite out of the ordinary. In spite of the disagreeable weather the house was packed and the drama was kept convulsed with Kit's pranks; all had an appreciation of her work. Miss Janis can drive a car with the skill and daring of a Barney Oldfield.

New York Having a Struggle Against Evils of Drug Habits

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York, May 18.—In an endeavor to make New York one of the most healthful cities in the United States, Father Knickerbocker is conducting a fight on the drug habits which in his eyes is slowly sapping the strength of some of its weak individuals. Citizens of this city have delegated the work of stamping out this deadly habit to the Police Department.

Aided by laws, both state and national, the Police officials who have this special work in charge are making big strides toward ridding the city of the users of drugs by arresting them and putting them in hospitals for treatment. The Harrison law, passed by the last Congress has been a big help in catching "runners" of cocaine and heroin who formerly could pass unmolested from one state to another with big quantities of "dope." Under the new law this is prohibited and while it does not assist the New York police formerly in apprehending people outside of the city it makes the work of the "runners" more dangerous. Before the Harrison law became effective much of the drugs used in New York City were bought in Newark and Philadelphia and conveyed into New York by automobile or even by a man carrying a suitcase on a train.

And the block bill, passed by the Albany legislature, has materially aided the police in putting the sellers of "dope" and "snow" behind prison bars. A bill recently signed by Gov. Whitman will allow magistrates to send victims of drugs to a state farm, after their release from the city hospitals, where they can get well and recover their strength and manhood. For a man who is addicted to the use of cocaine is only part of the fight he has to recover himself entirely. Drug users are usually despondent and easily depressed and as soon as some misfortune overtakes them they are liable to resort to a sniff of cocaine to brace them up.

The record of the police department in a little over a year shows that results are being obtained. In 1913 only about 500 arrests were made for this offense. But in 1914 over 2,000 people were picked up by the police and plain clothesmen and so far this year they have been catching them at the rate of 25,000 a year.

A prominent police official, in speaking of the crusade against the drug evil, said recently that he is convinced the police department is gradually stamping out the habit, for it is getting harder and harder to find people addicted to the use of drugs. This is because a majority of the worse type of drug fiends are now in hospitals and city institutions receiving treatment.

This police officer explained how they worked to catch drug fiends. When a street peddler, the man who sells the drug to the victims, is caught that cuts off all his customers. Unless they can establish new "connections" within forty-eight hours they must appeal for help, as they cannot stand the strain of being without drugs. And when a big wholesaler of drugs is captured that cuts off the supply of a great many street peddlers, which in turn deprives all the patrons of these street men of cocaine and heroin. And it is the sellers of drugs the police are particularly anxious to catch for they can put them in jail, if the evidence is sufficiently strong. When a drug fiend is caught, the police treat him as a sick person, for they know it is impossible for him to break himself of the habit.

But in many cases it is extremely difficult to obtain evidence that will hold in a court of law. This is because of the shrewd methods used by the street peddlers in selling their illegal wares. A drug fiend will pay the peddler the money and then will receive instructions to walk half a block down the street and pick up a cigarette box lying in the gutter. The box the victim finds a "deck" of cocaine. Another way practiced to evade the law is for a peddler to tell the buyer of the drug to walk down the street until he sees a girl who is sniffing. When he passes the girl she slips him a little paper package from inside her muff. This is a few hours the victim is happy, and as soon as the effect of the "dope" wears off he becomes dull and depressed again and the craving for more drives him to the peddler.

If the drug fiend has no money he is made desperate and is forced to steal to obtain funds for the dope. This, the police department believes, accounts for most of the petty robberies that occur all over the city. If the use of deadly drugs can be stopped, or practically eliminated, it is thought petty crime will be lessened by fifty per cent.
